

Patrick's Story

We Fight for Patrick

12/18/2023

Patrick O' Donnell was the 2020 Championship-winning goaltender for the Pacific Ridge School Firebirds before being diagnosed with brain cancer last year.

Patrick's mother Anne O'Donnell said, "Patrick, Hugh, and I were asked by the high school hockey team organizers of the NHL's Hockey Fights Cancer event who we would like to benefit from the fundraising, and we chose End Brain Cancer for all you do and did for us when we needed key information, resources, and leads to Doctors and second opinions."

The Pacific Ridge Hockey players wore lavender jerseys, which honors a Cancer Warrior. Paddy's name was on the back of each of the jerseys.

Hockey is a family. Pacific Ridge Hockey supports Hockey Fights Cancer because cancer has touched one of our own.

By supporting the End Brain Cancer Initiative, you will help people like Patrick O'Donnell have access to specialists, advanced treatments & clinical trials for this devastating disease.

Over 1,800 people facing brain cancer, a brain tumor, or metastatic disease to the brain received direct guidance and support from the End Brain Cancer Initiative and we reached over 18 million last year via our Disease Education, Awareness & Outreach Programs.
